

With more than 30 years' experience, Larry is an accomplished professional delivering results and effecting change across a range of industries including financial services, energy, engineering and construction. Larry has deep expertise in project controls, project management, vendor and risk management with a proven record of building and maintaining relationships, managing multi-million-dollar projects from concept to deployment, and leading teams to success.

Currently, Larry is an Assistant Vice President of Sourcing COE (Center of Excellence) with Synchrony Financial. He leads the sourcing process along with ensuring supplier compliance during onboarding new engagements. Larry is responsible for contract negotiations for new and existing agreements. In addition, he is also responsible for developing sourcing commodity strategies for Sourcing COE and managing and mitigating supplier as well as business risks.

Larry earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Engineering Technology from Virginia State University. Larry is an active member of the Delta Mu Mu chapter of Omega Psi Phi, which he was a founding member. In addition to serving on several committees, has served as President and Vice President for the chapter. Through his passion for events and fundraising, Larry is currently the co-chair of the chapter's signature fundraiser, Sundresses & Seersuckers and was an integral part in growing the event. The event started out as a local event but has quickly grown into one of the country's preeminent events and is the unofficial kick off to summer in Atlanta. Proceeds from the event fund scholarships to young men and women in Metro Atlanta.

Larry is married to Elizabeth and they have one son, Brice.
